New York Foundlings Kidnapped in Arizona Will Be Rescued from Captors and Returned to Asylum Authorities Here.

PRESIDENT ORDERS GOVERNOR TO ACT.

Rangers Under Arms Ready to Use Force Should Vicious Persons Now Holding Little Ones Refuse to Give Them Up.

(Special to The Evening World.) PRESIDENT Roosevelt, Nov. 4.—Acting under peremptory instructions from President Roosevelt, Gov. Brodie has started for Clifton and Morenci to regain by force if necessary the nineteen New York orphans who were kidnapped by the whites from the sisters in charge of them early in October. Before these children can be reclaimed there is almost sure to be trouble, as the men who have them declare they will fight before giving them up. Anticipating a struggle, Gov. Brodie has instructed Capt. Ryan, of the Arizona Rangers, now at Douglas, to be in readiness to hurry with as large a body of men as is needed to quell any disturbance that may arise.

By Bullet, if Necessary. Attorney-General Wells, of Arizona, is in constant communication with the Governor, and is keeping in close touch with the United States troops. At the first intimation of trouble the Rangers will be rushed to Clifton and Morenci, and if necessary every one of the nineteen infants will be taken by means of powder and bullet.

President Roosevelt's orders to Gov. Brodie to act were issued immediately after the President was appealed to by the good people of not only Morenci and Clifton, but by the people of Prescott. It was learned that when the whites took the nineteen orphans by force from the Sisters, threatening the latter with death unless they were out of the country in a stipulated time, that the little ones were turned over to the worst class of citizens in the two towns.

Worst Resorts on Earth. Morenci and Clifton abound in resorts frequented by the worst class of men and women in the world. In them fugitives from justice can be found—bandits, robbers, murderers, thieves and gamblers. The dives are of the very lowest order, and there are nightly revels in the grog shops, dance halls and gambling houses. Murders are of common occurrence, and hardly a day passes that one or more men are not shot down either on the streets or in one of the dives. The women who frequent these places are no better than the men. They are outcasts from every State and Territory and from Mexico. Why these men and women became attracted to the little orphans has never been explained, but the children were seized by a hundred or more of them. All the men were armed and many of the women carried revolvers in holsters strapped about their waists.

Children Carried Off. The children were taken without parley. Men and women, with the screaming and frightened little ones tucked under their arms, made off for the two towns, and then began the work of distribution of the children, who were given over to the lowest of the low. Some were taken to the filthy grog shops, where they were kept for the amusement of the rough patrons. Others were taken to even worse places to be reared among vicious women and taught vice as these women know it. All these conditions were reported to the President, and instantly the orders came to Gov. Brodie to rescue the little ones, even if the strength of the United States Army was required. The children will be returned to New York at once. It is not known that all of them are living. The rough life to which the boys and girls of tender age have been subjected has probably proved fatal to more than one of them, and it is believed here that some have died, and that an investigation will show that death was not from natural causes.

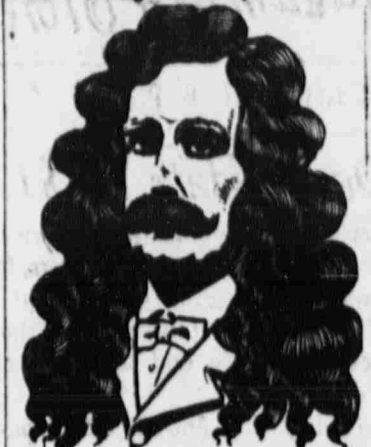

Feeling Bitter. The feeling between the whites and the Mexicans in Clifton and Morenci is most bitter. The whites claim that all disposition of the children by them is preferable to the lives they would have been compelled to lead had they been given over to the Mexicans. The whites say that the Mexicans to whom the children were to have been given are an immoral lot and that they acted in the cause of humanity. The report made to President Roosevelt does not agree with these statements.

Buy Your Jewelry at Lambert's Lay-Away Time Is Here

"To succeed in business," says a recent writer, "one should know how to spend money." Exactly. A jewelry house that makes the greater part of its stock, imports its own diamonds and buys in large quantities for cash, of the best manufacturers, can look its customers squarely in the face and tell them they save on every article. That is our position. We free the consumer from the middleman.

If you doubt, compare our prices with those of any other reputable house in our line and we shall cheerfully abide by the result. And we ask you to notice the grace and freshness, the high artistic character and originality of our designs. If you have not yet made up your mind what to buy, you will find a host of suggestions in the LAMBERT store. Articles bought now as holiday gifts will, if you wish, be put away in our vaults to be paid for at your convenience.

Signet Rings—An Artistic Treat.

In the good old days a seal took the place of a signature, and the fashion of signet rings began. If you look over our collection of solid gold Signet Rings you will see why the fashion is again growing. We have space to-day for two rings of this class taken hastily from the best assortment we have ever exhibited.

Solid 14-karat gold Signet Ring, richly ornamented with an American Eagle raised in relief. Price $13.50.

Solid 14-karat gold Signet Ring, extra heavy and ornamented with richly carved Heraldic Lion, a most pleasing gift. Price $18.

Others from $3.75 to $30.

For Wife or Sister.

This woman's solid 14-kt. Gold Watch, in extra heavy hunting case, is like all our watches, fully guaranteed, and carefully examined before it is placed on sale. Whether you select Waltham, Elgin or LAMBERT works, you are sure of a splendid timekeeper. The case is richly ornamented, hand carved, and one of our newest designs. According to the LAMBERT system it may be sold for $50; others from $16.50 to $250.

A Pair of Sparkling Beauties.

The pair of brilliant, good-sized Diamonds in this Ring were chosen by expert eyes for us in Amsterdam, and imported direct. The mounting is solid 14-karat gold, the work of the LAMBERT factory. A stylish ornament and a fine gift for birthday or holiday. Price $60.00.

Ask to See This Ring.

The Diamonds which surround the exquisite turquoise in this Ring fairly blaze when the light strikes them. The mounting is solid 14-kt. gold, hand-made in the LAMBERT factory, and while the cut indistinctly shows the size of the stones, your own eyes must enjoy their surpassing beauty. Price $100. Others from $25 to $1,000.

The qualities that have made the LAMBERT reputation are fittingly represented by our Seamless Wedding Rings. Every one is guaranteed to be solid gold and made by the best workmen to be found. Honesty, skill and painstaking are blended in this symbol of united bliss. Prices—14-kt., $3 to $12; 18-kt., $4 to $16; 22-kt., $6 to $20. No Charge for Engraving.
